Customer Success Report

Barcoding Software Category

A barcode only becomes meaningful if you have the adequate tools to interpret the information contained in the lines. Barcode technology offers multiple benefits to both businesses and consumers. To get the most out of this solution, one needs to use special barcoding software. It's a program that helps you assign and manage barcodes for your products. Most of the barcoding software in the market offer integration with inventory handling, as well as point of sales systems, which is extremely helpful to track and assist in the correct management of the stock level's information.

We need to be great. That's what our customers demand. It's what they expect. For us, everything has to be automated. We've got to have everything printed, and labels applied to the product. It's got to be UPC-coded, it has to work within our customers' systems, and often, beyond the label with electronic data interfaces and data exchange. For us, we need the best looking package, and the best branding so we can speak to the customer – that's through a color label.

JAY FAFARD
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT, WEST FOUR GROUP

JMagic is a pleasure to use. Because we were already a MarkMagic barcode labeling software customer, moving over to MarkMagic Forms was an easy, cost effective decision. We already knew how to use the product. We've also purchased the MarkMagic PrintMonitor Option. The monitor looks at the output queue for the print jobs and automatically puts the form on top, so the programming effort on the user side is reduced dramatically.

JOE LEWIS
IS EXECUTIVE, SPIEWAK

We print shelf labels for each slot in our racking, and case labels are printed and applied as finished goods leave manufacturing for the warehouse. CYBRA supplied Wireless Zebra printers to make it easy to print labels. Orders are printed by slot number, and we use Teklogix wireless terminals to confirm that the picker is at the correct slot, and the correct item has been picked.

YOSSI OSTREICHER
MANISCHEWITZ

We've been using MarkMagic since the mid '90s to develop and maintain customer compliant labels. Over the years, we have developed hundreds of labels and MarkMagic is an excellent tool to help us keep up with customer requirements.

I've purchased, recommended purchase, and participated in the implementation of as many as a dozen manufacturing and distribution software packages. While most all were functional, not one was easy to implement and most were rather complicated from a user and training perspective. Considering the significant expense of all those packages, QuickBooks and Fishbowl have made me a believer. It is excellent software, robust, highly functional and a real value to any small business.

SCOTT CAMPBELL
CROSSROAD DISTRIBUTOR SOURCE

We originally purchased Fishbowl as a tool to help our purchasing manager. We never dreamed we would be using Fishbowl as a completely integrated system to track items from ordering to invoicing and integrating into a general ledger packaging. I am amazed each and every day how much Fishbowl does versus the more expensive package we used at my prior company and it doesn't cost millions. In fact, Fishbowl is only a fraction of the price of other options we considered.

GARY BALLARD

In a year, Fishbowl has completely transformed inventory control in my company. It has several unique features that have helped make inventory control an easy process, including its unique configurator. We needed a system that could help us assign and schedule tasks, as well as see how long the life of a product is in terms of how long it takes to make, label, and shrink wrap. We needed this information by the item itself and a way to multiply it long-term so when taking on larger projects, we know if we need more help and can directly see the cost of materials and operations. We also wanted a better overview of our inventory, and Katana had all of that.
